

News of the Pilgrim crossing...

According to our own and other great sailors' router, things are well for the time being.

With Franck, Florence Arthaud's manager, the calculations for the crossing in progress have been re-done, and everyone agrees that the average speed since their departure is better than exceptional (7.5 knots) in spite of the zigzags that they have to do to catch the wind.

Great sailors like Florence Arthaud, hardened to this type of voyage (but on much bigger boats) are fascinated by the adventure on this little craft and are following it closely. Our Group is very proud to take part in this exploit via our employees.

After enduring 8 nights of rain and strong winds, our crew is slowly getting their sea legs and taking advantage of the voyage. Dauphins accompany them every day at sunset, 2 humpback whales crossed their path, 20 metres from the boat (not so amusing!).

The hope to reach the Açores next weekend to fill up with fresh food, and estimate their arrival in Marseille between the 8th and 10th.

Don't hesitate to follow their progress by following the link on AMC's Internet site, or directly on www.pilgrim38.fr.

You can leave your messages of encouragement on this site, and even if they can't reply it will cheer them up.

Irridium number to text a message via satellite:

00881632561154

A lot of wind is forecast for the next few days...